JOINT BIO

“MAIKA MOULITE AND MARITZA MOULITE are sisters and co-authors of young adult novels. DEAR HAITI, LOVE ALAINE was one of NPR's Favorite Books of 2019, part of Indigo's "Best of 2019" Teen List, and a Parents' Choice Foundation award winner. Their second novel ONE OF THE GOOD ONES was one of the most anticipated books of 2021. When they aren't working diligently on their next project, Maika and Maritza are sharpening their skills as PhD students at Howard University and the University of Pennsylvania respectively.

ABOUT ME

MAIKA MOULITE

MAIKA MOULITE is a Miami native and the daughter of Haitian immigrants. She loves writing: books, think pieces, journal entries, never-ending lists, you name it. When she's not scribbling every random thought into her notes app, she's sharpening her skills as a Howard University PhD student. (That means more writing.) Her research focuses on representation in media and its impact on marginalized groups. She's the eldest of four sisters and loves audiobooks, fierce female leads, and laughing.

ABOUT ME

MARITZA MOULITE

MARITZA MOULITE graduated from the University of Florida with a bachelor's in women's studies and the University of Southern California with a master's in journalism. She's worked in various capacities for NBC News, CNN, and USA TODAY but her favorite roles were Head Start literacy tutor and pre-k teacher assistant. She loved working with young people so much that she is now a PhD student at the University of Pennsylvania exploring ways to improve literacy through children's media. She clearly couldn't get enough of school. Her favorite song is "September" by Earth, Wind & Fire.
